U.S. Withholding Tax:

- The Issuer has determined that the Securities are “delta one” instruments and thus subject to the regulations that were promulgated under Section 871(m) of the Code (the “Regulations”).
- For U.S. withholding tax purposes the Issuer intends to subject all “dividend equivalent amounts” (as defined in the Regulations) associated with the Securities to U.S. withholding tax at a 30% rate, without regard to either any applicable treaty rate or classification of the Holder as a U.S. or Non-U.S. Holder for US tax purposes.
- On the applicable Ex-Dividend Day (as defined in the Strategy Rules) for any Constituent of the Strategy referenced by the Securities that is an “underlying security” (as defined in the Regulations), the Issuer will make a coupon payment on the Securities, in an amount equal to such dividend equivalent amount.
- The Issuer will subject such coupon payments to U.S. withholding tax at a 30% rate, without regard to any applicable treaty rate, and will arrange for the timely deposit of such amounts, as required.
- Such coupon payments, net of withholding tax, will not be paid to the Holders under the terms and conditions of the Security. However the Holder will have the benefit of such amount by virtue of the Strategy being a “net total return Strategy” where such equivalent amount is incorporated in the calculation of the level of the Strategy.
- In no event will the Issuer pay any additional amounts to a Holder on account of the 30% withholding tax. Non-U.S. Holders should consult with their own tax advisers regarding the U.S. tax consequences described herein.

- The Issuer will provide, through the Paying Agent, an information schedule to facilitate applicable U.S. tax reporting obligations of the Relevant Clearance System, in accordance with recent International Central Securities Depository (ICSD) common guidelines regarding 871(m) securities.
- Non-U.S. Holders may, on their own behalf, pursue treaty reclaims of any reimbursement of over withholding with the Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”). The Issuer makes no representation regarding the availability of any such treaty reclaim, and provides no assurance that the IRS will approve of such treaty reclaim. Each Holder should consult with its own tax advisor regarding whether or not treaty reclaims are available, and if so, refund procedures and processes.
- Upon request, the Issuer is required to provide further information relevant to the application of the Regulations to the Securities, including a schedule of the dividend equivalent amounts and associated withholding. A Holder may submit any such request for information to their custodian.
- See the section entitled "U.S. Federal Withholding on Dividend Equivalent Payments" in the Offering Circular from pages 531 to 533 and, if applicable, in the Pricing Supplement relating to the specific issue of Securities

Swiss Taxation

The following summary on Swiss Taxation does not purport to address all tax consequences of the Securities and is not intended to be, nor should it be construed to be, tax advice. No representation as to the tax consequences to any particular person is made hereby. You are advised to consult your own tax adviser in light of your particular circumstances as to the tax consequences of the Securities. Tax laws can change, possibly with retroactive effect.

(A) Swiss Taxation

The Securities should be treated as instruments similar to a foreign collective investment scheme for Swiss tax purposes.

Withholding Tax, Stamp Taxes: No withholding tax. No issuance stamp duty. Stamp duty on the turnover of securities at issuance (primary market) and on secondary market transactions of up to 0.3% if a Swiss securities dealer is involved as a party or an intermediary and no exemption applies.

Income Tax: Please note that the following income tax treatment is only applicable for private investors with tax residence in Switzerland, holding the Securities as their private assets in a tax perspective.

In general any dividend and interest income from the Reference Asset is subject to the Federal Direct Tax. Furthermore, the difference between the certificate value at issuance and the Issue Price (if any) is also subject to the Federal Direct Tax. In case there is no annual Swiss income tax reporting for the Securities, the taxable income will be assessed by the Swiss tax administration by means of estimation. The tax treatment regarding the cantonal and communal income taxes can differ from the tax treatment for the Federal Direct Tax but in general the tax treatments are corresponding.

(B) Automatic Exchange of Information in Tax Matters (“AEOI”)

Switzerland has implemented the Automatic Exchange of Information in Tax Matters (“AEOI”) as of 1st January 2017 with the EU and various other countries and is negotiating the introduction of the AEOI with further countries. The website "www.sif.admin.ch" provides an overview of all partner states Switzerland has signed an agreement for the introduction of the AEOI. In this context the EU Savings Tax for Swiss paying agents and the Final Withholding Tax with UK and Austria have been repealed as from 1st January 2017.

II. Profit and Loss Prospects

The following seeks to highlight certain key aspects of the profit and loss prospects of the proposed issue of Securities and is qualified in its entirety by, and should be read together with, the entirety of this document, in particular the Sections "Product Structure" and "Important Risks".

Each Security entitles its holder to receive the Redemption Amount on the Redemption Date. The Redemption Amount is settled in cash.

Potential profit is limited, in all cases, to the Redemption Amount. The maximum loss consists of a total loss of the invested amount.

The Securities and the rights associated therewith (including the entitlement to the Early Redemption Amount and the Redemption Amount), including adjustments to the terms of the Securities as a consequence of any corporate action, other events affecting the Constituents, any disruptions in the market for the Constituents, changes in respect of any legal or regulatory adoption of laws or their interpretation or an event affecting any hedging activity of the Issuer and certain rights of the Issuer to terminate the Securities early, are subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the Offering Circular and Pricing Supplement.

III. Important Risks

Investing in the proposed issue of Securities involves a number of risks. See the section entitled "Risk Factors" in the Offering Circular from pages 30 to 110 and, if applicable, in the Pricing Supplement relating to the specific issue of Securities.

U.S. Federal Income Tax Reportable Transaction: Recently, the U.S. Treasury Department and the U.S. Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") released a notice designating certain "basket contracts" and substantially similar transactions as "transactions of interest," subject to information reporting requirements as "reportable transactions" under Section 6011 of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). In general, the notice could apply to a Security linked to a basket of assets or financial index where a beneficial owner is (i) a United States person as defined under the Code, or (ii) a non-United States person whose gain or loss, if any, would be effectively connected with a U.S. trade or business (an "ECI holder"), and such beneficial owner (or person acting on behalf of the beneficial owner) has the discretion to change the referenced assets or trading algorithm underlying the index. If a United States person or an ECI Holder becomes a beneficial owner of such a Security in contravention with the Security's selling restrictions (which prohibit sales to, or beneficial ownership by, United States persons or ECI holders), such a United States person or ECI holder may be required to report certain information to the IRS, as set forth in the applicable Treasury regulations regarding "reportable transactions." A Holder or beneficial owner that fails to disclose the transaction in accordance with the notice could be subject to penalties.

In addition to the potential reporting requirement discussed above, the Issuer, or affiliates of the Issuer, may be required to report the issuance of these securities to the IRS to the extent the Issuer cannot document the appropriate non-U.S. tax status of each beneficial owner. As the Issuer does not expect to be able to document the U.S. tax status of each holder, the Issuer currently expects to disclose the issuance of the Securities to the IRS as a potential "transaction of interest."

Product Specific Risks

- Under certain circumstances set forth in the Offering Circular, if the Calculation Agent determines that a specified event, such as, but not limited to a Market Disruption Event (such as a trading disruption, exchange disruption or early closure of an exchange with respect to the Strategy), Additional Disruption Event (such as a change in law), Strategy Adjustment Event (non-publication of an Strategy level or cancellation or modification of an Strategy) has occurred, any consequential adjustment to the terms and conditions of the Securities including an early redemption may have an adverse effect on the value of such Securities.
 - The Calculation Agent, which will generally be a J.P. Morgan affiliate, has broad discretionary powers which may not take into account the interest of the holders of Securities.
 - J.P. Morgan is subject to various potential conflicts of interest in respect of the Securities, including in relation to its hedging and market-making activities and the role of J.P. Morgan Securities plc for the Securities, each of which could have an adverse effect on the value of the Securities.

In addition to the product specific risk factors highlighted above, investors are exposed to risk factors specific to the Strategy, and investors must independently inform themselves about and assess such risks.

Currency Risks

Investors should be aware that foreign currency denominated Securities are subject to fluctuations in exchange rates that could have an adverse effect on the value or price of, or income derived from, the investment, even if the Redemption Amount or, if applicable, the early redemption amount would otherwise provide for a positive return on the investment.

Liquidity Risks

Liquidity of the Securities in the secondary market may be limited and an active trading market for the Securities is not likely to develop.

Volatility

Investors should take into account that market prices for the Securities may be volatile, depending upon the (often volatile) development of the price, parameter or value of the Strategy, interest rates, remaining term of the Securities and other factors.

Risks relating to the Issuer

Investors are exposed to the default risk of the Issuer.

The value of the Securities is not only subject to the performance of the Strategy, but, among others, also to the credit rating and solvency of the Issuer, which may be negatively affected during the term of the Securities.

The Issuer of the Securities may be substituted without the consent of the holder of Securities.

The Securities represent general contractual unsecured, unsubordinated obligations of the Issuer and ranking pari passu with all other unsecured, unsubordinated obligations of the Issuer, save for obligations preferred by operation of law.

The Issuer is not subject to prudential supervision by the U.S. Office of the Comptroller of the Currency and other supervisory authorities, in The Netherlands or elsewhere.
